Salamanca is home to Spain's oldest university, and is world-renowned in teaching Spanish to international students. The Spanish spoken in Salamanca is standard and accent-free, so students who learn the language in this prestigious city can travel to any Spanish-speaking country and be sure they are going to be well understood. Salamanca is a UNESCO World Heritage Site and was named European Capital of Culture. It has astonishing monuments and pedestrian-friendly, cobblestone streets where Christopher Columbus and Miguel de Cervantes once walked. Here, students find a safe and welcoming environment to perfect their Spanish speaking skills.
